

Turkey lifts confinement order for over-65s, under-18s

9 June 2020

Erdogan said cinemas and theatres would reopen from July 1.

© 2020 AFP

Credit: CC0 Public Domain

Turkey will remove confinement rules on people over 65 years old and those under 18, President Recep Tayyip Erdogan said on Tuesday.

Around 7.5 million over-65s will now be able to go out every day from 10 am to 8 pm, Erdogan said, relaxing a measure that had almost entirely forbidden them from going outside since March 21.

A similar prohibition imposed on under-18s on April 4 was also lifted, with the condition that young people still have to be with their parents when they are out, Erdogan said.

Turkey has eased most of the restrictions brought in to stem the virus—from reopening restaurants to allowing mass prayers at mosques—but the Turkish leader warned citizens must still wear masks outside and keep social distancing.

"We need to get ourselves used to the reality that the new normal will continue for a while more," he said.

APA citation: Turkey lifts confinement order for over-65s, under-18s (2020, June 9) retrieved 1 September 2022 from <https://medicalxpress.com/news/2020-06-turkey-confinement-over-65s-under-18s.html>

This document is subject to copyright. Apart from any fair dealing for the purpose of private study or research, no part may be reproduced without the written permission. The content is provided for information purposes only.